

Auringon Noustessa (At Sunrise)

For 5-Part Adaptable Ensemble

Toivo Kuula
Arranged by Robert J. Ambrose

DURATION

About 5 minutes.

INSTRUMENTATION

The piece was arranged for a five-part adaptable ensemble and optional but recommended percussion parts for up to four players. This arrangement can be performed by concert band with as few as five players, string orchestra, brass ensemble, clarinet choir, saxophone choir, or woodwind choir.

A minimum of five players is required, one from each of the parts listed below. Should you have more than five players, please double parts in a manner that retains a reasonable balance. The four percussion parts, while desirable, are completely optional. Should you have fewer than four percussionists available, the priority order for assigning parts should be: timpani, triangle/chimes, suspended cymbal, bass drum.

The instrumentation is as follows:

PART 1: Flute, Oboe, Violin, Bb Clarinet, Bb Soprano Saxophone, Bb Trumpet

PART 2: Oboe, Violin, Bb Clarinet, Bb Trumpet, Eb Alto Saxophone

PART 3: Bb Clarinet, Bb Trumpet, Eb Alto Saxophone, F Horn, Violin, Viola

PART 4: Bb Bass Clarinet, Bb Tenor Saxophone, F Horn, Bassoon, Trombone, Euphonium, Cello

PART 5: Bb Bass Clarinet, Bb Contrabass Clarinet, Eb Contra Alto Clarinet, Eb Baritone Saxophone, Bassoon, Trombone, Euphonium, Tuba, Cello, Double Bass

PERCUSSION (optional): Timpani, Triangle/Chimes, Suspended Cymbal, Bass Drum

PROGRAM NOTE

Toivo Kuula composed Auringon Noustessa for choir in 1909 and the piece belongs to a set of seven choral works written around that time that were grouped together and given the designation of Op. 11. The work uses as its text the poem "Nää, oi mun sieluni, auringon korkea nousu" by Finnish poet Veikko A. Koskenniemi, first published in the 1906 book of collected poems called Runoja.

PERFORMANCE NOTES

1. This work was originally scored for choir. This arrangement represents an expansion of the original piece in terms of melodic, harmonic, and rhythmic material. It is the hope of the arranger that these elaborations are felt to be organic and in keeping with the style of the music.
2. The primary purpose of the percussion is to add textural color to the arrangement. Mallets and beaters should be chosen so as to blend into the texture rather than overtake it.
3. In keeping with the original work, no tempo is specified at the Largo maestoso section. However, a slightly slower and more deliberate tempo will yield good results.
